200g Warm Water

70g Sugar

1 large egg

75g melted butter - warm not hot

8g instant yeast

150g riced mashed potato -

-aprx 1 large russet/yukon potato peeled and double-wrapped in foil and roasted in the oven at 425°F for 1 hour

*Do not use under-cooked potato

625g All purpose flour

12g salt

15g dough conditioner

- mix in stand mixer at medium speed for 8-10minutes
- When you have a cohesive mass use tug test to make sure there is no shredding or tearing of the dough.
- place into bowl and shape into a ball with a wet hand
- cover the dough and let it proof for 30 minutes
- aggressively de-gas the dough punching it down
- give it strengthening folds
- proof for 30 more minutes
- on floured surface punch the dough down again normally
- cut dough into 12 100g pieces
- place parchment onto a baking tray and spray with oil so the buns can be moved easily
- take the 12 pieces and
 - punch the dough down one more time. large gas bubble will make unusual voids in the dough
 - make two fold and shape into a ball with a pinch seam on the bottom. place on sheet tray.
 - spray buns with water and cover with a wet towel and let them proof for 60 to 90 minutes in a room that is at least 75°F
- brush each bun with egg wash (water and egg) -if you use an emerson blender the wash will have better coverage.
- Bake them in a 400°F oven for 15 to 18 minutes.
 - spray the buns with water
 - rotate the tray half way through if your oven cooks unevenly.
 - cook until a good dark golden brown color forms.
